Colin Folwell
Managing Director Corbeau and Luke

I started Corbeau back in 1963 when I was competing in club motorsport throughout the UK. It was the discomfort experienced while racing due to the inadequate seating that prompted me into making some prototype seats. Once installed, other drivers were soon inquiring where they could buy the seats and the orders started to come, thus Corbeau was born. This personal involvement in motorsport over the years has helped develop the Corbeau range to where it is today. Corbeau was the first manufacturer of competition seats in the United Kingdom. Besides a healthy UK market, Corbeau exports to over 50 countries around the world. Today I am still proud to head up Corbeau along with Luke ensuring that both companies' products meet the standard and quality that its customers have come to expect over the years.

These are very challenging times and we at Corbeau have responded to the current financial climate and the needs of our customers. 2010 sees the launch of new products which will enhance our range and keep Corbeau and Luke ahead of the competition.

I would like to thank our customers for their loyalty and valid comments which have helped us to provide the product they expect.

Good luck to you all in 2010 and I hope we can all enjoy another successful and prosperous year.

Colin Folwell
